

Dr. NIKOLAOS DRAKOULIS, MD

Born in Piraeus Greece he studied Biochemistry at the University of Tübingen and Medicine at the Freie Universität Berlin, Germany.

He received his PhD at the University of Berlin and specialized in Clinical and Molecular Genetics, in Human Pharmacoepidemiology, in Clinical Pharmacology and Clinical Chemistry. Worked at the Institutes of Clinical Pharmacology and Human Genetics, Freie Universität Berlin and Charité University Berlin.

Associate Professor of Pharmacology and Clinical Pharmacology, School of Health Sciences, Faculty of Pharmacy, University of Athens, he teaches since 2001 Pharmacology, Clinical Pharmacology and Pharmacogenetics.

Member of numerous scientific committees, boards and societies, president of the Hellenic Society of Pharmacogenomics and Personalized Diagnosis and Therapy.

Head of Research Group of Clinical Pharmacology and Pharmacogenomics, University of Athens.